"Young Researchers Forum in Central Asia: Cooperation Perspectives with the European Union on Climate Change, Energy and Health in the context of Horizon 2020”

Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan, 9 June 2016

Venue: Kyrgyz National University
Bishkek, str. Frunze 547, Main Building, 2nd Floor, Grand Conference Hall

The Inco-Net Central Asia’s main objective is to build strong and sustainable research cooperation between the Central Asian region and the EU for the prosperity and welfare of both regions. In order to contribute to the fulfillment of this objective, a workshop in Bishkek will be held on 9 June 2016 aiming at creating a platform for exchange and broadening existing EU-CA collaborative channels, involving young researchers and new research organizations, enhancing the visibility of the EU Framework Programme for Research Horizon 2020 for CA partners and opening a dialogue on concrete perspectives for research collaboration between the European and Central Asian research communities.

The workshop’s objective is threefold:

- To inform and target the audience with information on “Horizon 2020” and offer an incentive for young CA researchers to start effective cooperation with EU partners on research collaboration of excellence related to climate change, energy and health.

- To give the floor to CA researchers to present and discuss Central Asia research/scientific activities relevant to the topics that “Horizon 2020” Work Programmes on Energy, Climate Change and Health address for the years 2016-2017.

- To showcase successful examples of participation of Kyrgyz researchers in “Horizon 2020” Projects’ consortia.
